Phillies Slaughter Cardinals in Boisterous Exhibition, 14 to 6.

Beckley, Shay and Wolverton Chased to the Bench for Disputing a Decision.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE GLOBE-DEMOCRAT.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., June 6.—In an old-time play, in which members of the Phillies worked their heads and their feet at the same time, nearly broke up to-day's game at Philadelphia park. It was the event of an afternoon which was filled with incidents, not the least of which was the home team's victory by the score of 14 to 6.

The play that brought back nineteenth century memories caused all kinds of trouble and the sending to the bench of three players. It was resurrected by Barry and Titus in the sixth. The former Jack opened the inning by getting four balls. Then the other Jack dumped the bases full of balls down the third base line. Titus beat Burke's throw to first base, and Barry, instead of stopping at second base, dashed violently for third. Beckley hustled the ball across the diamond, but Barry was declared safe. The Cardinals made a big kick over the decision, Shay and Beckley being ordered to the bench. Shay was without even urging, but Beckley tried to perforate Mr. Moran's chest protector with his fingers before concluding to go back and sit down.

While all the argument was going on Titus slipped down to second. When he was ordered to return to first base Wolverton objected, and he, too, was put out of the game. Then the 13,000 spectators had their own troubles trying to get a line on the Cardinals' new cast. Byers took Beckley's place and Brain moved to field from left to shortstop, while O'Neill went to left field and batted in Shay's place. Hall took Wolverton's place at third.

The one-sided victory was a surprise to the crowd, but the playing of the Phillies was positively a revelation. For the first time in weeks the men were "on their toes" all the time. Given a lead by the Cardinals they woke up all at once and all together.

St. Louis, too, did considerable in the batting line, but their fielding was wretched and their errors cost them many runs.

Corbett started to pitch for St. Louis, but after the Phillies had scored four runs in the first inning on two bases on balls, a wild pitch, a passed ball, a single by Titus and two errors, Joe retired and McFarland ended the inning by throwing Hulswitt out. After that the runs and hits came so fast that the crowd had hard work keeping track of them. But when it was all over the spectators had already formed the opinion that if the Phillies' supply of ginger keeps up there is yet hope of their escaping the National league's booby prize. Score:

Flaherty Released to Pittsburg.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE GLOBE-DEMOCRAT.

CHICAGO, ILL., June 6.—Pat Flaherty, the White Stocking southpaw, was to-day released by Charles Comiskey to the Pittsburg National league club. Flaherty will join the Pittsburg team in New York next Saturday. No terms of the deal were announced. Flaherty is a native of Pittsburg. This is one of the first moves under the management of Fielder Jones.

Fair Handicap Fluctuations.

During the past week interest in the American Derby and the World's Fair handicap has more than kept pace with the rise in the Kentucky national handicap. The latter race plunged over two hundred points, and the Derby went up in betting records on any event outside the American Derby were broken.

While few sensational bets were laid by Mr. B. J. Walker & Co. on the Derby, much good money were received every day, ranging from as low as $50 up to $1000 apiece, the latter being placed in from St. Louis, Kansas City and New York. Approximately $100 and several hundred of $500 were placed on the sheets of the company. In Hot Springs numerous large wagers were also placed on the sheets, a branch office being in operation there.

Of all the long shots that have attracted attention from the speculators, Woodsen has come up for the greatest play during the past three days. His victory at Hawthorne, when he simply romped in over the field, started a flood of money his way, bets ranging all the way from $5 to $100. He opened in the betting at odds from 100 to 1 to 20 to 1.

Among other heavy bets recorded by Walker were: Fifteen thousand to $1000 on Outlaw; Ben Pincus, $2000 against Ben Brush; Sol Leigh, $10,000 to $100, Woodsen, from Chicago; $25,000 to $50, War Whoop, New York.

Jockey Lowe Has a Winning Day.

Rides Three Winning Mounts in Close Finishes at Union Track.

Close finishes marked the day at the Union track yesterday, and four favorites found their way under the wire by very narrow margins.

Morris Lowe won three of the events, and gave splendid examples of horsemanship in each. Especially in the third and fourth races did he put up desperate fighting finishes, saving the talent with a supreme effort when he was apparently beaten in the turn for home.

In the closing race Rain or Shine was the medium of a heavy play, both at the track and about in the poolrooms, and showed his superiority by romping home under restraint. Judge Brady was in doubt about Jockey Nelson's ability to handle Rain or Shine, but after Mr. White assured him the boy did all the exercising and was thoroughly familiar with his task, he was allowed to ride. Nelson proved the worth of his employer's confidence by handling the horse well and winning handily.

The track had dried out to a good condition, and a cheap field negotiated the one-mile distance in 1:45. This afternoon it will be fast, if no further weather disturbance upsets the prediction.

The crowd was the largest Monday attendance that has as yet gathered at the new course.

Russell Baber and Tom Haynes were at the track, and announced an intention of operating from bookies' platforms after the cut-in to-day.

In the first race the 2-year-olds were given an airing, and Thora Lee proved much the best. Dan Horne ran an impressive second. Willie McKinney received a hard ride from Burton, and was third.

The second found many scratches, and the Oakley-DESPATCH's selection at 8 to 1 won rather handily from Cay, who was played for a good thing. Reprise was third. Harplitha made a first appearance at the course, was well backed, but the beat he could do was fourth.

Sailor's Delight took the one and one-quarter mile race after standing a hard stretch drive from Lowe. Jack McKinney was a keen contender throughout the journey. Chicago Girl might have received a better position, but for Wainwright's weak effort. Scarborough ran a disappointing race.

In the feature the talent went to Dodie S., and those who had their money down were ready to tear up tickets when the race was half run. However, the uncertainty of racing was exampled, for, after Lowe went to battling the Morton candidate along in the finish, she responded gamely and won the verdict by a neck. She was clearly outrun in the early part of the journey. Fitzmorn was the second one under the wire, and Big Injun was third. False faltered when called on in the drive at the end.

J. Sidney Walker evidenced a return to his winning ways for, when he was a hard horse to beat, and won the fifth from flag fall to finish. Anzeiger was second and Squid third, coming like a cyclone on the end. Little Margaret needs a stronger boy than Shilling to hustle her to the front.

In the closing race Rain or Shine and Lampadrone were installed even choices, but the ring went to the latter. Rain or Shine received some play, however, and the victory of the White colt fastened the bookmaker's pocketbook more firmly shut, yet in their money in chunks. Lampadrone was easily the best of the others, and Sneer remained in the chase long enough to be third. Joe Ross was in the race, or rather was a starter, but he was a different horse than last Saturday. His price went up in the ring, not a check was bet on his chances and he was in the rack at the finish. In a very clean field, many moons later, he may return to the form of the Saturday race and give the ring another walloping.

Browns Win from Washington in Second Game of Series, 5 to 3.

Pelty Pitches a Fine Game and Is Well Backed Up by His Team.

The Browns took Washington into camp yesterday afternoon in the second game of the series in handy fashion, 5 to 3. The game lacked the spectacular features of the contest Sunday, but it also lacked some of the erratic work of the latter. Pelty, the unlucky, did the twirling for St. Louis, and for seven innings it looked as though the youngster would drop another game. Then his team came to the rescue with some hitting and base running, and put the contest to the right side of the ledger beyond recall. Pelty scored Washington out in three in the eighth and ninth.

There was but little feature to the game, and the Browns took the game as though it belonged to them before it was played. Orth kept them in hand for five innings, but when the team began to come Washington was beaten before the score was tied. The Senators blew up under fire in the seventh, and gave St. Louis the chance to clinch matters. Of the individual plays Heidrick's catch of a long fly off Schaefer's bat in the third inning was the best. Hemphill did some starring with the stick, Charley getting three hits out of four times up, one of them a three-bagger. He also did some good work on the bases and scored two of the Browns' runs.

In the opening inning Washington was lucky to get away from being scored against. Burkett dropped a hit down the first base line, which Clark failed to hold into a fielder by the run. Heidrick got into a double play, however. Then Hemphill smashed out a three-base drive to left field, but it failed to do any damage, as Wallace went out to Orth. Washington got a run in the second. McCormick drew a pass, stole second, went to third on a wild pitch, and then threw low to the latter point, trying to catch him napping, Barrett took third. Clark singled a single to left, scoring McCormick. Drill fanned and Orth came along with a long drive to center, Cougalin making a grounder to Hill and made the third out at first.

Pelty kept Washington well in hand after that up to the sixth inning, when the Senators got two more runs, which would have been a safe lead for most any other team. McCormick started the trouble again by reaching first on a fine one-base hit. Clark drifted one in front of the plate and went out at first, but Pelty clipped Burkett with the ball and gave the latter a free pass. Orth rolled a tame-looking grounder at Padden, but Capt. Dick held "Howdy" and "Goodby" in the same breath. Heidrick grabbed the ball, but McCormick scored. Coughlin slammed out a single to left and Drill came home also. Donovan lined into Padden's mitt and closed the inning.

St. Louis started to regain lost ground in the second half of the sixth. Burkett was safe on a fine bunt. Heidrick forced him at second. Hemphill cut a fast grounder to right and Heidrick went around to third on Donovan's throw to first. Hemphill fell out going to second. Wallace's long fly gave Heidrick a chance to score and Hemphill scored on a single to left by Jones. Hill flew out to Selbach.

Peden started in the seventh and then he sprang a piece of base running which put Washington in the air and scored the tying run. Sugden sacrificed to Orth and Padden dug out for second before the ball was hit. He went out half past second and when Clark woke up was nearly to third. Clark sent the leather clean over Coughlin's head and Padden continued to the plate. Pelty slammed a liner into the front of the left field bleachers and went to second. Burkett was called upon to bunt, but Drill made it a single to right and Pelty scored. Emmett started to steal second and went to third on Drill's wild throw. Heidrick grounded to Pelty and Emmett and Heidrick scored. Charley went out trying to steal second.

Both teams were out in order in the final two innings. Score:

Huelsman Goes Back to Chicago.

DETROIT, MICH., June 6.—Huelsman, the husky outfielder, left this city to-day for White Sox, starts for Chicago to-night. Comiskey held Huelsman up for a raise in the original contract for the man and now demands that the player be given back his share of the money he paid out. The Chicago manager has had the purchase check in his pocket for a week. Huelsman was a star for the season, as St. Louis will claim also if he tries to get rid of him.

Walsh Knocks Out Cooley.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE GLOBE-DEMOCRAT.

CHICAGO, ILL., June 6.—Charley Neary, the idolized pride of Milwaukee, and Clarence Hagler of Omaha fought a tame six-round battle in a draw at the Auditorium to-night. In the preliminaries Andy Walsh, a veteran lighter from Brooklyn, knocked Cooley, of Chicago, in the first round, and Clarence Forbes left Young Rudolph, of Milwaukee, in the opening session of their bout, putting him out. Jimmy Ryan knocked Mike Ball in six rounds, and Joe Green had equal fortune with Frank Carney. A good crowd saw the bouts.

How Abe Attell Was Not Fouled, or George Munroe to the Front.

Former Bantam Weight, Who Was in Attell's Corner, Says Attell Was Suffering from Too Many Punches in the Stomach.

The mystery of the terrible foul which it said to have prevented 122-pound champion Abe Attell from defeating Jack McClelland at the West End club last Thursday night was cleared up by George Munroe, formerly one of the leading bantam weights of the world, who was Attell's corner man in Sam's restaurant.

Last Thursday night Munroe was in Abe's corner, and he to a voluntary statement made by Munroe, Attell was never fouled and the affair was simply a ruse to save Attell time and to get him to keep on fighting.

Munroe's statement was as follows:

"Abe was not fouled. He was all out and he knew it and his manager, Nelson, had told him to go ahead and do the best he could. The trouble began in the eighth round, and it was when Abe received a pretty very sick at the stomach. We had to hold the towel to his face to keep the public and the other corner from getting wind of this fact.

"In the ninth round he declared himself unable to go further, owing to the bad condition of his stomach. We did think it was too much of a severe punishment for his to probably not having been in shape.

"The next two rounds Abe was trying to quit the worst way. At the end of the eleventh round Bloom told him to go in and do his best and he would stop the fight. Abe was down, claiming foul. The rest of the affair you all know. Dr. Parkes never said that Attell was fouled; but he did say was that there was a red place on Attell's stomach, which might have been caused by a blow, and that he could not state whether it might have been serious or not.

Attell swears that he was fouled, but the evidence is so unanimously against him that one seems to prove conclusively that Attell was all through. Attell was not up to a good form, undoubtedly undertrained, his opponent when he went on with only ten days of training.
