HERE IS ANOTHER TALE ON DONOVAN

Wild Bill" Donovan has a reputation for never being at a loss for words. Bill, however, was at a loss for words when he was first asked about the Wild Bill's." He is not the kind that can be shamed into being at a loss for words about it.

Two years ago when Donovan was playing regularly, Nellie Fisher took a fancy to the Wild Bill's." Nellie is the sweetest of her sister, Dorothy, is "Wild Bill's" pet, and Nellie is Donovan's pet. Nellie and Donovan walked over toward him, and Donovan, finding himself in a tight corner, very carefully and thoughtfully asked the pertinent question:

"Nellie, if I had your nose full of pepper would you wish me well?"

SHOTTON MAY JOIN CHICAGO; DEAL STARTED

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—When the 1915 season opens the White Sox will have Burt Shotton, St. Louis Brown outfielder, or one of the Mackmen's left-handed whirlers, if plans of Manager Rowland, of Chicago, and Manager Bisbee, of St. Louis, are completed. Bisbee seems last night hinting admitted the "trade" was in the air.

OREGON WILL PLAY M. A. C. AT LANSING

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 25.—The 1915 foot ball schedule of the Oregon Agricultural college, announced today, includes a game with the Michigan Agricultural college at Lansing, Oct. 23, and one with Syracuse university at Portland, Ore., Nov. 20.

Mahan a Possible 5 Gold Ball Man

Charlie Brickley, Eddie Mahan, Westmoore Wilson, Jr., Dick Harte and Craig Sauer are five of the Harvard men who may be graduated with the proud distinction of having attained the "M" in three major sports, as has "Tuck" Hardwick already attained.

If Brickley succeeds in "making" the position of center with the "varsity" nine in the spring, and Harvard should then proceed to take two out of three from Yale, Brickley would be a four gold ball man. If Hardwick should get a fifth gold ball in the spring as a reward for playing on a winning Harvard nine, Eddie Mahan would then be about the only man in sight capable of tying Tuck, and he'd have to play on two Harvard nines victorious over Yale and on an eleven that beats Eli next year to do it.

SOX MANAGER FINDS PLENTY IN SAME BOAT

A lot of humor has been informally extracted from the fact that Charles Comiskey employed a manager in the person of Clarence Howard Rowland to make an appearance on the pitcher's mound on one of the White Sox ball machines out of the Windy City.

Perhaps Clarence Rowland is not the man who wants a working model from which to pattern his pitching. Perhaps Clarence Howard Rowland is not the man who wants to be a pitcher. The fact remains that Comiskey has employed a manager who is a pitcher, and that he has been a pitcher for years, and that he knows all there is to know about pitching, and that he knows all there is to know about managing, and that he knows all there is to know about managing a ball club, and that he knows all there is to know about managing a ball club, and that he knows all there is to know about managing a ball club
