Andy LoTurco Boots Home 2 Winners to Tie for Lead

Italian, Even With Montgomery With 13 Firsts, Misses Another by Inches

By BILL FAIRBAIRN

Andy LoTurco, the wild-riding Italian veteran who is becoming more popular daily with the fans if not with his fellow jockeys, forged into a tie for the riding lead at Fairmount Park yesterday when he hammed down in front with two winners to pull even with Bobby Montgomery at 13.

However, the top-notch, semi-professional jock had to share the day's eight honors with Bobby de Feria, Willie Armstrong and Tony Fernandez, for this too, along with the York, evenly divided the significant program.

INCHES BEHIND

Andy LoTurco's eight, though, the day could have been just a bit better. For, in the seventh race, he got an one of the best exhibitions of riding courage and ability the track has seen, only to wind up in second place, about a inches back, according to the camera.

In the first race on the program Andy rang up his twelfth triumph aboard Legal Advice, and then came right back to money again with the first half of the daily double, Glassmeter.

De Feria then picked up the double, riding the second half of the double, Magnolia Cash, which, with Glassmeter, returned $27.45, and Baby Gold winner of the daily race.

So far the juvenile races have produced more than their share of exciting finishes and yesterday's 6-year-old trial brought out one of the best.

Breaking his mount clear from the gate, De Feria allowed Baby Gold to fall behind the pace as Fire Reserve and then Corolla B. shot to the front. Reserve held the lead until the stretch was reached and then dropped completely out of contention as Corolla B. took over momentarily.

At this stage Baby Gold was in fifth place, but from this spot on in the finish the colt was really winging it and flew on to score by a half length.

Red Bat got up in the last few strides to nose out Corolla B. for the place money, and the latter was a week ahead of unlucky Polly Pauline, the favorite, which finished fourth.

Baby Gold, paid $22 and turned the distance in :57.2, exceptionally fast time considering the condition of the track, which was in the process of drying out after Wednesday's storm.

Armstrong's two victories were on Fiorot and Sun o' Mar, and Fernandez tripped in with Three Clovers and Wylakin. It was on Flyaway that Fernandez handed LoTurco his case setback.
