VERMONT TO ELECT MEAD

Apathy Feared, However, by Republican Leaders.

PLURALITY ONLY QUESTION

National Issues Have Scarcely Entered Into Contest—Vote for Minor Party Candidates Never a Factor in State Election—Statement by Chairman Williams.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Sept. 5.—The election tomorrow of Hon. Charles A. Mead of Rutland to full governorship over Charles G. Watson of St. Albans, the Democratic nominee, seems to rob all the state Republican candidates with the exception of a few senators and representatives, is planned and executed to-night by both the Republican and Democratic managers. While in agreement on the main result they differ materially as the size of the Republican majority and in that question lies the principal interest in the political contest. The average Republican majority in Vermont on state issues since 1878 is 26,000, while the average Republican majority is 30,000. The Democratic vote four years ago is about that they feel sorry sanguine they can overcome the Republican majority of 8,000 the years since Democratic victory in 1906 and 1908 and the six years would make the Republican majority 48,000 at the present election.

The Democratic majority two years ago in 1908 and the majority Mead received in 1906 was 7,000. The Democratic leaders say that they have gained and some even claim that they have gained enough to overcome the Republican majority of 8,000 two years ago and will be able to win the election by that majority. Mead received in 1906 a majority of 7,000 and the Democratic leaders say
