Takes Advantage of His Benefactor

George Morrow, 210 Ohio street, failed to appear in police court to answer to the charge of forging Albert Hastings' name to a $7 check. The forger was committed on Christmas day, and Hastings fell so sorry for Morrow that he asked for his release and went to the trouble of furnishing a bond. Morrow has shown his gratitude by disappearing with the forged check. He is said to have made a purchase at a furniture store, retaining it in charge.

DIAMOND CHARM FOR BAKER

Successful Republican Candidates Remember Their Chairman. FROK DEWEY MAKES THE PRESENTATION.

The judicial college, comprising the county and district judges and other successful republican candidates at the recent election, invoked Judge B. E. Baker's office at noon yesterday wreathed in smiles and the spirit of the season's good fellowship. At the proper moment one invited Frank Dewey, a member of the leading party, and this was a signal for him to fumble into his pocket, etc. Dewey withdrew an elegant, diamond-studded Masonic watch chain, emblematic of the thirty-third degree, and proceeded to recite his poem, concluding with the remark that he wanted the judge to wear it in Congress as well as at home. The judge, of course, didn't know what to say, but when he recovered he was seen dodging about town showing the charm to his friends. The presentation was made by an appreciation of Judge Baker's services as director of the recent campaign in which the republicans secured such a thorough victory.
