

SMILIT STARTS MOVEMENT FOR IMPROVING DAIRY INDUSTRY

Proposition to Apply Science So as to Increase Profits and Improve the Products

CO-OPERATIVE PLAN IS GREAT FEATURE

Cow Testing Association Throughout State Advocated as Part of Scheme

BERKELEY, Dec. 5.—The college of agriculture of the University of California has undertaken to apply science to the dairy industry in California, so as to increase not only the profits of the dairymen in all sections, but the quality and quantity of milk, butter and cheese produced in the popular centers. Dr. Leroy Anderson, professor of dairy industry, has assumed charge of the work. Dairying associations for co-operative testing of cows and of milk yield will be formed, the university offering to send to any section a member of the faculty on request of a dairymen's committee.

PAMPHLET GIVES STUDY Doctor Anderson has prepared a study of cow testing associations, which is mailed to anybody writing to the college of agriculture at Berkeley. In this pamphlet is set forth the economic value of such organizations by the experience of the only existing association in the state. In particular it is stated that in the San Joaquin county, where a man is employed to make weekly tests of each dairy cow, that the gain in profit is five times as much as the cost in fees.

The object of cow testing associations, Doctor Anderson says, is to make use of scales and the Babcock test in a community. Instead of the dairymen into a partnership for the purpose of employing a trained man to visit each farm at regular monthly intervals to make the tests, the co-operative plan is to employ a few men of each cow. At the end of the year this man gives each dairymen a record of the individual in his herd, with its own weight, the amount of milk produced and the cost of about $1 per cow.

MANY ASSOCIATIONS NEEDED "There ought to be hundreds of such organizations in California, involving from three, any neighborhood that has from 100 to 200 cows, to 100 or more, within a radius of five miles. The man who will afford to start a milk testing association in fact has no other business to do, and can afford to do it. Any community that has a few dairymen, and a few cows in the state which are not being tested, should have a co-operative plan set up. It is as simple as the dairymen are concerned in setting up a co-operative plan."

TELES OF WORK PROMULGATED Doctor Anderson issued in his bulletin a form of rules for such associations. He also has prepared a form of information to send to the dairymen in the county, and a form of the best of the dairymen in the county, and a form of the best of the dairymen in the county, and a form of the best of the dairymen in the county.

MEN TOO BIG AND JOB IS HELD UP

Not Enough Small Men for Oakland Contractor to Finish Work on Time

OAKLAND, Dec. 5.—If F. H. Danke could find more laborers, he would complete his job for the laying of sewer in Mission district. Danke says that the pipes are 30 inches in circumference. Only a small force can enter the pipes and cement the joints. He has not been able to find many workers of the right size, and this is the reason he gives for delay. Danke has already been granted an extension. His contract expired November 25 and the contract has asked to be extended until January 1. Danke will have his answer ready.

ESTATE BRINGS MANY RELATIVES IN SIGHT

Mary Roach Lived and Died Alone, for Her Wealth Was Unknown

OAKLAND, Dec. 5.—Mary Roach who died in her loneliness as she knelt at her bedside in prayer, never knew how many friends and relatives she had. Now was the number supplied, and their deaths died, and her estate, for sought to distribute her estate valued at $1000. Now she has friends and relatives appearing on this coast and in Ireland, and any day may bring new ones to light.

A little girl known as Mary Mc Donald, she left Ireland during the black days of the famine of the '40s and came to this country. Arriving in California after twenty years spent in the east she married David Roach of Contra Costa county in 1874. He died and their daughter died, and September 2, 1908, Mrs. Roach was found dead on her knees in this room, her hands clasped in prayer. She had lived alone in West Oakland for many years.

The first applicant for heirship was Mrs. Nelson, who first said she was a daughter and then said she was a wife of Mrs. Roach which left the estate to her. This was after Public Administrator George Gray took possession of the estate. After some delay Mrs. Nelson was represented by Attorney A. E. Leach.

Next, two Mohawks, also of Ireland, came to the attention of the court. They are represented by Attorney J. J. McLaughlin of San Francisco. To settle the Irish question Mr. Gray was appointed commissioner to hear all the claims in the old country, and he was directed to forward the findings to the superior judge of Alameda county.

During the hearing held by Judge Walsh and Francis McDonald declared themselves in the title of the estate. They are represented by Attorney Henry Reed.

Superior Judge John T. Murphy is trying to untangle the tangled web of the extra statements submitted by the various parties. He has decided to enforce the law passed two years ago, and with the announcement already is encountering difficulties.

According to a reading of the law vaccination is to be applied not only to the students but to all school employees as well. If the law is observed faithfully the harvest will be used on the janitors, teachers, principals, secretaries and superintendents, and it may apply to the members of the board of education.

Publicity will be posted in the schools in a few days announcing that the pupils must submit to the vaccination. All the information hereinafter has been confined to the pupils if it is possible that this time, and it is probable that City Attorney Woodman will be asked to interpret the new law.

FINEST DOLLS ARE PICKED BY JUDGES

Award Board Has Difficult Job Selecting the Twelve Most Exquisitely Crafted

OAKLAND, Dec. 5.—Mrs. George Meade, Mrs. William Havens and Mrs. Harry Knowles were the judges who sat today to pick the twelve finest dolls under the patronage of the World's Fair. The dolls were all made by hand and were of various materials and designs.

It was a difficult matter to decide and one which called for careful deliberation. For every article that was brought to the table was found made by hand, and the judges were all made of doll of various materials and designs.

It was not until 2 o'clock that the decisions of the judges were reached, the awards being made to the following: First prize, Mrs. Samuel W. Pearson, Miss Frances Matthews, Mrs. J. R. Ayer, second prize, Mrs. L. A. Dunster, Mrs. J. Miller, and to one whose name's identity was unknown.

The big audience presented a merry Christmas scene with its booths of holiday novelties. A May pole surrounded by dolls of all sizes gave a festive reason for the occasion. The dolls were all made by hand and were of various materials and designs.
