

SEEKS OPINION ON CAMPAIGN ORDINANCE

Betskouski to Ask Legal Department to Decide Whether Such Law Could Be Enforced

When the ordinance regulating the expenditure of funds for campaign purposes is called before the public welfare committee of the council tomorrow, City Attorney Stephens will be asked by Councilman Betskouski to decide if the Dunlop-Read ordinance can be enforced if it is adopted.

The chief deputy in the city attorney's office, Howard Robertson, has already handed down an informal decision, stating that the provisions of the ordinance are inconsistent, and that in his opinion its passage would be unwise.

"I believe it would be a rank piece of foolishness to pass the ordinance and I shall vote against it," said Councilman Betskouski.

"It evidently was Mr. Dunlop's intention to prevent any one interested in an election campaign to spend any money for campaign literature, cards, or to hire any employees to work for a candidate or a measure for a period of 30 days preceding an election."

"The ordinance also provides that anyone who has worked for money in the interests of a candidate or a measure for thirty days before an election cannot contribute their services on election day."

"In another section the hiring of automobiles or other conveyances to take voters to the polls is prohibited. If I wanted to hire an automobile to take my own wife to the polls to cast her vote for me at an election it would be deemed an infraction of the law, if it was ever passed."

"I shall ask the City Attorney to show just how foolish the law is," concluded Councilman Betskouski.

It is understood that other members of the council entertain the same view of the ordinance and will oppose its passage.

Prince Chamay Is Pneumonia Victim

BRUSSELS, Oct. 13.—Prince Joseph De Carman Chamay, deserted husband of Clara Ward, the Detroit, Mich., heiress, died here today of pneumonia. Prince Chamay and Clara Ward were married in 1890. Four years later the Princess eloped with him, a gipsy violin player, from whom she was later divorced. The Princess is now suing her third husband for divorce.

Cot Cripple Under Investigation Today

Investigation will be made today by members of the Associated Charities as to the desirability of Arthur F. Fuller as a resident of Los Angeles and his right to obtain a permit to sell literature on the street. Fuller, who can neither sit or walk, has been notified by a city police detective to leave the city or enter the city hospital. Fuller rides around the city in a cot-wagon.

McReynolds to Give Natural Gas Data

President McReynolds of the board of public utilities will address the Evening City club tonight on the facts and figures bearing on the natural gas situation.

MANY CANDIDATES FOR ALLEN MANTLE

Scores of Names Mentioned for Presiding Judge of Second District Court

The death of Judge M. T. Allen leaves the position of presiding judge of the second district court of appeals to be filled by the appointment of Governor Johnson.

Several Superior court judges of Los Angeles and other counties and retired jurists are mentioned as prospective candidates. Judge Curtis D. Wilbur is reported to be a likely candidate owing to his friendship with Governor Johnson and his experience on the bench.

Presiding Judge Paul F. McCormick, Judge Frank R. Willis, Judge James Rives, Judge N. P. Conroy, former Judge Walter Bordwell, Judge Benjamin Bledsoe of San Bernardino county and Judge Crow of Santa Barbara are also mentioned. Should one of the Superior court judges be appointed that will leave a vacancy in the Superior department. Police Judge Frederickson, it is rumored, will be a candidate for the vacancy.
