

OSBORN-WARREN ALLIANCE FORMED SAY POLITICIANS

Former Governor Wants
Support Here in Primaries.

SENATORIAL PLUM IN 1916
DECLARED BARGAIN FEE

Jake Haarer, Probable Wayne
County Campaign Manager—
Job Declined by Dever.

BY JACK F. CRUMER.

If information which comes from the Osborn camp is to be credited, an alliance has been formed between former Governor Chase S. Osborn and Charles B. Warren, Republican national committeeman, and president of the Michigan Budget company.

Under an arrangement arrived at between Mr. Osborn and Mr. Warren, the support of the national committeeman is to be thrown to Mr. Osborn in the presidential primary campaign and in return Mr. Osborn will support Mr. Warren for United States senator in 1916 against Senator Charles E. Towns.

The big move in the matter is the selection of a campaign manager for Mr. Osborn in Wayne county, who is acquainted with the political workers and the financing of the campaign.

Through the efforts of Judge George F. Gold, William S. Dever, present deputy controller and former auditor and deputy county clerk, was selected for the job. Or rather, it was decided that Dever is to be Mr. Dever had a number of conferences with Gil Dame, the Osborn campaign manager, several days ago, and it was announced that he would accept and would resign his present position in the campaign. It was learned Monday, however, that Mr. Dever had looked the situation over and had definitely decided to stick to the up with the Osborn forces.

CONFERENCE DUE TODAY.

Mr. Dame is expected back in Detroit today to continue the hunt for a campaign manager, and it is understood that the man now being considered is Jake Haarer, a member of the campaign committee. It is known that Mr. Dever and Mr. Haarer had several conferences within the past few days.

The failure to secure Mr. Dever for manager stops a new little bit of political chicanery. It was the purpose of the Osborn organization up state to claim that Mr. Dever had been retained by the Marx organization in the city hall was with Osborn, although Mayor and City Councilman have been at odds ever since it was announced that he would accept and would resign his present position in the campaign.

The decision to be drawn from the strenuous efforts to be made by Mr. Osborn's adherents in Detroit is that he will be nominated in the state, but that he will not get the vote up state that was anticipated before he goes to the national convention. That is the reason that those who have come to the conclusion that Alex J. Groesbeck will be nominated for the gubernatorial nomination next year, are not worried about the vote which it is now generally acknowledged he will get in Wayne county.

Osborn Disappointed.

It is no secret that Mr. Osborn and his friends have been sorely disappointed at the progress of the campaign. He has not received any attention. Mr. Osborn has not been the power on the stump that he was in his first campaign. And he has not been able to add to his advantage. It was confidently expected that when Mr. Osborn announced his candidacy on May 1, George E. Ellis of Grand Rapids, would drop out of the race and would support Grand Rapids executives and devote himself in his speeches to attacking the Soo line and the Saginaw line. He is to be sure to cut into the Osborn strength among the radicals in the upper peninsula, but he will not carry Kent county, which would have been an Osborn stronghold.

Then, too, the farmers have not been stamping to the Osborn standard, and the result is that in the back countries where the voters are rather out of town, with affairs, Fredrickson and Dever have held their strength. These votes had all been counted on by the Osborn leaders.

Then the Saginaw situation is a great disappointment to Mr. Osborn. It was expected that he would be a big vote. But the entry of W. S. Linton, who is a man of no chance of carrying that big county, has been counted on by the Osborn leaders.

Groesbeck Campaign Pushed.

The general response to his candidacy has fallen far short of what was expected by his friends and the Osborn leaders. The only hope of winning they have is to cut Mr. Groesbeck's strength in the lower peninsula, whence the alliance with Mr. Warren.

In the meantime the Groesbeck people are pushing their campaign very much. They professed complete ignorance of the Osborn plans, but the campaign has been a smash success. A smile accompanied the denial which indicated that the answer was in the direction of "Yes."

"We don't know what the others are doing and don't care," asserted George E. Ellis of Grand Rapids.

"We do know that our plans for getting the Groesbeck vote to the primaries are perfect."

"We are confident that Mr. Groesbeck is going to have a tremendous vote in his home county."

Political Gossip

The word has been passed in political circles that the Presidential nomination is about due to "take a fall" out of Chase S. Osborn for his request to Roosevelt that Mr. Osborn be inducted in Michigan.

E. Kelly, who is contesting with Congressman Francis E. Dornum for the nomination as congressman from the First district, has sent out a circular in which he attacks Mr. Dornum for his statements in the Congressional Record to show that Mr. Dornum was absent when several labor bills were voted on.

J. E. Galpin, prosecutor of Michigan county, was in Detroit Monday on legal business. He denied that Chase S. Osborn was to be the next governor of the state. In the western part of the state it is anybody's fight right now.

Major George E. Ellis arrived in Detroit Monday, preparatory to addressing the board of commerce Tuesday noon. The Grand Rapids mayor and candidate for governor would not say what he was going to talk about, but he intimated that he would not be afraid to make a speech which Mr. Osborn made before the board two weeks ago. Mr. Osborn is to be in Detroit this week and make at least one more speech to the workingmen before the primaries. It is to be expected the state to finish up the campaign.

Betting on the coming election, or at least the offering of money, is picking up. In one downtown place, the board of directors of the Woodward Commandant wins one of the probate judgeship nominations. At another place, the board of directors has been bet that Alex J. Groesbeck will be nominated for governor.

Court Clerk Thomas F. Farrell is a mystery, and no word has come of his nomination. He is going ahead with the business of the office, and is devoting only but little time to campaign.

The two most loyal Martindale supporters, Charlie Petrosky and Eddie Schultz, in town, were feeling particularly good yesterday after the celebration Sunday when they found all of the Germans prominent in the campaign were supporting Mr. Groesbeck for governor.

Herman Zink, who has been out of the common council for four years, is still looking for a place to win one of the Republican nominations in the Eleventh ward and show that he is a real "come back."

Charles Asp is being picked by the Germans, who are running mate of Alderman Harry Dingeman. The wise ones in the ward declare, however, that the real winner is Herman Schultz for the nomination.

A. F. Bunting, candidate for congress in the First district, has started an individual campaign. He goes from day to day to the voters and at night addresses a meeting wherever he can find a half dozen or so of the district together.

Malcolm J. McLeod continues to make great strides in the Thirteenth district. His friends confidently predict that he will be nominated over Charles A. Nichols and William C. Manchester.
