SUICIDE OF JAP SLAYER FEARED

That George Kodani, confessed slayer of Miss Helena Wood-Smith, noted landscape artist of Carmel, may try to cheat justice by suicide is the fear today of Sheriff W. J. Nesbitt of Monterey County. Accordingly, every precaution is being taken to prevent the wily Japanese from making an attempt against his life.

Guards have been stationed both in and out of Kodani's cell. He is held incommunicado and his every move is watched by trained eyes. Knife and fork are denied him and his food is carefully examined.

"I am a little afraid that Kodani will try to kill himself," admitted Sheriff Nesbitt today. "When I was negotiating through a secret agent of mine to bring Kodani from his hiding place at Point Lobos, he remarked to my man that if he was discovered he would kill himself rather than submit to arrest. I am afraid on this account that he may be planning to kill himself and now just watching for a favorable opportunity. But he will not be given a chance, for I am keeping a steady watch on him every minute of the day and night and I am determined that he shall be brought to trial. He will have no opportunity to cheat the law."

INQUEST TOMORROW

The coroner's inquest into the death of Miss Smith will be held tomorrow afternoon in Pacific Grove, J. C. Reid, coroner of Monterey County, will open his inquest at 2:30 o'clock.

Sheriff Nesbitt intends to question Kodani as to his knowledge of the attempts to poison Miss Alice MacGowan, well known Carmel author, last April.

While at present there is no evidence to indicate that the confessed murderer of Miss Smith participated in the poisoning plot, there are many in the literary and artist colony of Carmel who are satisfied that there is a sinister connection between the two crimes.

Although satisfied with Kodani's general admission of guilt as confessed in the confession he made yesterday in the presence of a delegation of Japanese, Sheriff Nesbitt disbelieves many of the details of his prisoner's statement.

NO TRACE OF DOG

One of the few unexplained details of the case is the disappearance of Miss Smith's cocker spaniel. King. The dog dropped from sight at the same time as Miss Smith and no trace of it can be found.

"I have told you that I killed the woman and if I told you that much I would have told you the truth. If I killed the dog," said Kodani, in his statement to the county authorities.

Sheriff Nesbitt will conduct a renewed search for the dog. There are many in Carmel who believe that the recovery of the canine's body may reveal still more crime on the part of Kodani.

Blanche Sweet, in a scene from "The Second Mrs. Roebuck," the feature film at the Portola Theater this week.

The film version of "The Second Mrs. Roebuck," with Blanche Sweet in the star role, is the special feature at the Portola Theater this week. The film visualizes the story attractively.

The three part photoplay, "Ambushed," in which Francis X. Bushman is the star, is also a dramatization of a popular magazine story.

Added attractions for this week are the films of Pope Pius X and scenes in the Vatican gardens and at Lourdes.

The return of "The Spoilers" is announced for next Sunday.

CUPID BANISHED; EMBRYO M. D.'S AT U. C. SAD

BERKELEY, Aug. 25.—Cupid, who has been thriving on co-educational conditions at the University of California, has been told firmly to put his arrows back into their quiver by Prof. R. O. Moody of the department of medicine, who said that the blind god had no business among the embryo M. D.s on the campus.

It was during a lecture to the premedical students that Cupid got the worst from the faculty hand. Professor Moody said that the study of medicine was an exacting taskmaster, who required close application and attention. To back up his opinion, the university savant quoted Sir William S. Osler, who a few years ago, startled the scientific world by advocating the chloroforming of all men over 40.

Just as what Professor Moody quoted from Doctor Osler, "Put your affections in cold storage for a few years and you will take them out ripened, perhaps a bit mellow, but certainly less subject to fleet changes which perplex so many young men."

Now Cupid makes a detour when he approaches the buildings of the medical department, but still finds comfort in Co-ed Canyon and other time honored spots on the campus where his arrows find their marks.

MORRIS ARRIVES IN SWEDEN IN SAFETY

By Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM, via London, Aug. 25, 1:15 a. m.—The American minister, Lars Nelson Morris, with his family, has arrived here after a good voyage from England to Bergen, Norway.

Among the American tourists who are staying here are Mrs. A. H. Sage and her daughter of New York and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Barney of Dayton, O.

A thrilling trip was made in Finland by twelve Americans, one of whom said:

"Our party left Stockholm on July 31 on a steamer for St. Petersburg, but we were stopped by a Russian warship and compelled to return to Hango, where we were lodged in a hotel. The steamer was taken in charge by a Russian warship and blown up in the harbor entrance. At the same time several cranes and other harbor works were dynamited to block the entrance to the Finnish harbor. The explosions made a great spectacle.

PARTY HELD UP

"Our party was unable to leave until August 4, because the roundhouse and other buildings at the railway station were in flames.

"Starting for Stockholm by train, we traveled in cars already overcrowded with refugees. Arriving at Hyringe, we found at least 3000 persons waiting for the next train north. The town was already filled, and people were sleeping in the streets and in the overflowing hotels and in the parks.

"We finally found lodgings in a sanatorium outside the town. The next day we left Hyringe by train. In a train loaded with Germans who had been expelled from the country, we proceeded to Nicolaistadt, a seaport fifty miles to the west.

SAIL ON FREIGHTER

"There we found comfortable lodgings in the local place. We also had the good fortune to discover an American freight steamer, on which we were permitted to sail on August 8. The voyage was dangerous, as all the beacon lights had been removed from the passage, which is narrow and made hazardous by shoals.

"The other steamers left port at the same time. The first was commanded by a Russian pilot. It ran aground and was wrecked. The other vessel narrowly escaped the same fate. Our steamer, however, got clear and we arrived without accident at Hernosand, Sweden.

LAST SHIP TO SAIL

"Our trip through Finland had interesting and even exciting moments, but we were not ill-treated by the Russians.

"After having rested at Harnosand for several days we came on to Stockholm. We will remain here until September 15, when we will continue our journey by canal to Gothenburg. On September 24 we will sail from Copenhagen for the United States."

IT IS A FACT—

That trade relations which have existed between England, Germany and the South American countries have already suffered a paralysis from which they can not recover for years.

FURTHER 'LIFTING OF LID' REFUSED

The Police Commission denied last night the requests of the proprietor of a Market street cafe and of several others owning places in the North Beach District to have dancing allowed in their places two nights a week.

The first thirteen police corporals on the list of those passing the examination for the position of sergeant were appointed last night.

WOMAN FIRES AT 'NOISE,' HITS DOOR

OAKLAND, Aug. 25.—Awakened by what she thought was a burglar attempting to break in the back door early today, Mrs. Myra P. Farr, proprietress of the Apartments, 2207 Broadway, fired two shots at the noise and hit the door each time.

When she unlocked the door, however, expecting to find a dead or wounded burglar lying in a pool of gore, she could see nothing but two bullet holes in a plaster on the opposite wall.

The police were called in to investigate and look for blood spots, but failed to find anything more than a splintered door and cracked plastering. The mystery of the noise at the break remains unexplained.

U. C. Co-eds Gain Over Men in Registration

BERKELEY, Aug. 25.—Co-eds still are gaining in numbers over the men students of the University of California, and in another year regents expect that there will be more freshmen women than men.

Figures compiled by James Sutton show that the men entrants this year only slightly outnumber the women, there being 584 men to 631 women.

In the college of natural sciences this year 301 women enrolled for studies in medicine, chemistry and other sciences. The men in the same department only number 250 this year.

In only three departments—civil engineering, mining and mechanics—are there no women enrolled this year.
