Woman Finds Remedy Worth Fabulous Fortune

"I wouldn't take a million dollars for the good May's Wonderful Remedy has done for me. I have finished the course and can say I am entirely cured of very severe indigestion, bloating and colic attacks I suffered from for many years. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. E. C. Kinsel and druggists everywhere.—Advertisement."

Superfluous Hair, Roots and All, Quickly Go!

(Absolutely New Home Method)

For the first time in a hundred years a genuinely effective method of removing unwanted hair growth has been discovered. The new electrolysis process does not merely take off the hair ends. It actually removes the root! It does this quickly and harmlessly. It does not act anything like the depilatory, electrical, or other methods. Electrolysis is non-odorous, non-painful, non-irritating. Use a stick of it from your drugstore. Follow the simple instructions and have the satisfaction of seeing the roots themselves removed at last.—Advertisement."

The Barton Bedtime Stories

Nibble Hears Silvertip Commit a Crime.

By JOHN BARTON.

No wonder the Red Cow's naughty little calf was lively. So many things had happened on his birthday that when Nibble crept into his nest that night his mind was in such a whirl he couldn't remember all of them. He didn't remember yet when he first woke up on Sunday morning, early, early, before the darkest night had begun, to melt into the gray of dawn. He yawned sleepily and rolled over. My, but that hole of his was warm and comfortable! Suddenly he jumped up and began to scrub his face with his paws.

In about three minutes he was down by the pond, thumping for Dr. Muskrat. And wasn't the Doctor's eyes all sleepy when he poked his head out of the water? "Out," he shivered, "what do you want at this hour of the night? Spare me with an icicle, but this pond is cold!" (If one of the Woodfoks is found frozen to death the saying is that he's been spared by an icicle.)

"Come along," said Nibble. "I'm going up to the barn to see the Red Cow and her bad baby."

"What do you take me for?" shouted the old doctor. "Don't you forget that Silvertip the Fox is living there! Glimet the Woodpecker said so. I can't run like you can and there isn't any water for me to dive into."

"I forgot," apologized Nibble. "Well, you just be careful," warned the wise old beast, "and you come straight back and tell me about him."

So off went Nibble, creeping about among the puddles. He dove into the brushpile for a minute because he heard two birds talking. But they were only little downy

Mr. and Mrs. Screech Owl, smaller than Bobby Robin. "I tell you it's too early for nesting," one was saying.

"Not if Silvertip keeps on leaving all that nice food for us in the fence corner!" insisted the other. "He scarcely eats half of what he catches, and chickens are the best eating in the world for our owlets. We wouldn't have to do any hunting."

"So," said Nibble to himself, "Glimet was right. Silvertip's catching Tommy Peole's chickens."

Nibble Cocked an Ear at the Chicken Coop

haystack and, sure enough, there was a nice nest that smelled of Silvertip—it's almost the same smell as the seed of the "cranes-bill," as the Woodfoks call wild geranium. Nibble loves to eat them. It was empty, so Nibble cocked an ear at the chicken coop. Sure enough, there was a tiny rustling in the straw. As he sat there listening he heard the scared shout of a pullet, "Squa-aw!" "Squa-a!" and that was all. Silvertip had throttled her.

Bounce! Down he came from the perch and alarm! Out he slipped through the little back door his snooty nose had learned how to open. But Nibble didn't dare call Watch the Dog for fear Silvertip would hear him.

ONLY ONE D. A. R. CONTEST BUT THAT'S A WARM ONE

WASHINGTON, April 22. — The continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution was to elect officers today. Although there was a contest for only one office, that of vice-president-general, rivalry for this was keen. Seven vice-presidents-general were to be chosen from the list of 35 candidates proposed yesterday. Other officers, of whom Mrs. George Maynard Minor, of Waterford, Conn., was the nominee for president-general, all were unopposed. The balloting began this morning, but the tellers will not announce the result until the session tonight.

Spring days mean healthful exercise outdoors. And outdoor exercise is followed by a demand for cooling refreshments.

For children who play with all their might and men who play more moderately, Kling's Birch Beer is a most satisfying drink.

Moreover, Birch Beer has the wholesome extracts of birch bark as a basis. It possesses a delightful flavor and acts as an invigorating tonic.

When you're warm and tired and thirsty, it fits the need to a T. Buy it by the case.
